ABOUT

Grady-White Express 330

This 2003 Grady-White 330 Express has benefited from an extensive list of upgrades and improvements, including a 2021 Yamaha F300 repower, updated Garmin electronics, bow thruster, tower, recent upholstery, newer air conditioning, and much more .

Powered by twin 2021 Yamaha F300XAs with approximately 515 hours , the boat was repowered in 2021 and has been recently serviced. She also has fresh bottom paint and has been continually updated by her current owner.

For the serious offshore fisherman, she is rigged with a tower , Rupp double-spreader outriggers , and a Rupp center rigger . Electronics were updated in 2019 and include three Garmin displays—two at the main helm and one in the tower—closed-array radar, and Simrad autopilot .

A bow thruster makes handling this 33-footer around the dock considerably easier.

The updates extend well beyond the helm. Recent improvements include new upholstery, new Dometic air conditioning, new VacuFlush toilet, newer battery charger, and a new helm cover .

The Grady-White 330 Express has earned an excellent reputation for combining true offshore fishing capability with the comfort and accommodations needed for cruising and weekends aboard. This particular boat stands apart from many older 330s because of the significant investment that has already been made in her power, electronics, mechanical systems, and cosmetics .

For someone looking for a proven offshore platform without taking on the expense of a repower and major updating, this 330 Express deserves a close look .
