Designed for Adventure: The Intrepid 407 Panacea

The Intrepid 407 Panacea is a 40-foot center console that blends luxury, performance, and versatility, making it equally suited for offshore runs, family cruising, or entertaining at anchor. Built on Intrepid's proven stepped-hull design, the 407 delivers a smooth, dry ride and impressive efficiency at speed. Owners can select multiple outboard configurations, typically triple or quad engines, for exhilarating top-end performance paired with confident offshore handling.

Above deck, the layout is designed to adapt to different lifestyles. The spacious cockpit can be outfitted for serious fishing with rod holders, livewells, and tackle storage, or configured for leisure with foldaway seating and entertainment options. A signature side dive door with a fold-out ladder makes swimming, snorkeling, or diving simple, while the bow area offers wraparound seating with an adjustable table that converts into a sunpad. At the helm, triple seating, advanced navigation electronics, and a sleek hardtop create a commanding yet comfortable space for long days on the water.

Below deck, the 407 Panacea offers an unexpectedly refined cabin that makes overnight trips possible. Features include a comfortable berth, air conditioning, a compact galley with refrigerator and microwave, and an enclosed head with shower. True to Intrepid's semi-custom philosophy, every detail—from upholstery to electronics—can be tailored to the owner's needs, resulting in a boat that is both highly functional and deeply personal.
