The versatile five-stateroom arrangement includes a spacious full-beam master suite, two additional amidships guest staterooms, and two forward cabins that provide dedicated crew accommodations or additional guest capacity. Each stateroom features its own en-suite head, plus the main deck "day head" giving the yacht excellent flexibility for extended family cruising, entertaining or potential charter operation. Spacious galley with dinette, and enclosed flybridge/sky lounge access are forward. Galley is separated from the main-deck dining and salon area, providing excellent separation between food preparation and guest entertaining spaces while maintaining convenient access for service . Spacious elevated aft-deck lounge with built-in settee seating and commanding views over the extended cockpit and water.

ENCLOSED FLYBRIDGE AND UPPER DECK

The enclosed flybridge functions as both the primary command center and a second climate-controlled salon, making the yacht particularly comfortable for extended cruising.

Aft is a substantial upper boat deck equipped with port and starboard hydraulic davits, providing excellent tender and personal-watercraft capability along with additional outdoor entertaining space. Additional exterior main deck access to outdoor main deck settee and lounge area

At an asking price of $1.175 million , Afforded Leisure represents a compelling opportunity in the large-yacht market. Her combination of approximately 80 feet of overall size, five-stateroom accommodations, dedicated crew quarters, enclosed flybridge, extended cockpit, twin MTU power, dual generators, stabilizers, twin upper-deck davits, and extensive recent refit work provides a level of space and capability that can be difficult to replicate at this price point. For a private owner, she offers significant cruising and entertaining capability. For a buyer evaluating charter opportunities, her stateroom configuration, crew separation, and multiple guest-entertaining spaces provide an attractive platform, subject to applicable charter regulations and requirements.

Detailed service records, invoices, refit documentation, and additional specifications are available upon request. Contact MarineMax broker Jay Youmans for details or schedule and appointment (561) 222-3181
