ABOUT

Namuun

LOCATION

Palma, Balearic Islands, Spain

NAMUUN was the second Truly Classic 108 built and was delivered to her owner in 2012, who named her SIMBA. The yacht spent several years in the Eastern Mediterranean, whereafter her second and current owner used her in the Western Mediterranean and the Caribbean. NAMUUN received a substantial overhaul and refit as described in this brochure, which was executed by the experts of Pendennis Shipyards in the UK in 2024/2025, transforming her into a near new yacht. With a layout including 4 cabins sleeping 8 guests, she provides an elaborate accommodation rarely seen on this type of yacht at this size. The yacht has been kept in private Bureau Veritas class and to achieve charter compliance should be possible. NAMUUN handles very nicely with her slab-reef mainsail onto a park Avenue boom and hydraulic furlers on the head sails. On a reach she will do 13 kts in 20 kts of wind. The alfresco dining and socialising in the centre cockpit are a great feature as well as the spacious aft working cockpit and the designated Captains/ Navigation deckhouse. The main deckhouse allows for dining and socialising and going down the stairs forward, there is a vey nice salon for relaxing and TV watching. NAMUUN boasts an great full beam master cabin with en-suite in the aft section of the yacht. In the forward section are the galley, the crew mess and the crew accommodations. With the extent of all the work done and her great condition, NAMUUN is a rare find; here is a great chance to acquire a beautiful 108ft Truly Classic yacht.
