Donation Actual Condition This generously donated boat, previously owned by a diesel mechanic teacher from a community college, has been well-maintained and boasts accurate meter hours. The vessel has undergone winterization (2022) and replacement of the fuel delivery system and tower cables for enhanced reliability. Please note that the boat more recently collected rainwater due to having no drain plug, which has since been temporarily rectified by drilling a hole in the stern.

Additionally, the port engine requires an impeller, the starboard engine needs a new starter wired in, and all systems may need attention, replacement, or repair due to the water intrusion. The generator has never been used and prior to the water intrusion was suspected to be in functional condition. The tower has been modified (removed) for transportation purposes.

This vessel presents a project opportunity that requires some attention prior to use, however it holds great potential for an individual who possesses resourcefulness and proficiency in boat maintenance.
